

Our P3 Choral Speaking Team Shines at the 77th Speech Festival

We are proud to share the wonderful news that our Primary 3 English Choral Speaking Team won Second Place in the 77th Speech Festival (P1–3 category)!

The team performed the poem “The Sloth” by Theodore Roethke. Dressed in creative costumes as different animals, the students brought the story to life on stage. One of them played the sloth, who is often seen as slow and silly. At first, the other animals did not want to play with him. But in the end, the animals understand that being yourself is not stupid at all. The poem closes with the powerful line: “and you just know he knows he knows.”

Our students practised with great effort and teamwork before the competition. Their lively performance showed not only their strong English speaking skills but also their confidence and creativity.

We are proud of their achievement. Congratulations to our talented Choral Speaking Team!

SPPS

CPDC

SPPS

CPDC

